

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to aggregated compositions comprising short peptides, or sub-sequences, of full length VP22 protein for delivery of substances such as nucleic acids and proteins into cells. The invention relates to such compositions in themselves, and to methods for their manufacture and use.